

Set in late 1920's New York City, Bugsy Malone is a slapstick comedy that tells the tale of two rival gangs, led by Fat Sam and Dandy Dan. After Fat Sam's boys come under attack by Dandy Dan's goons, Fat Sam hires Bugsy Malone to help him even the score. Until now, Bugsy, who fancies himself a pretty smooth ladies' man, has been busy trying to sweet-talk singer-for-hire, Blousey Brown. Enter Tallulah, Fat Sam's girl, and singer in his night club, Fat Sam's Grand Slam. If you think the rivalry between gangs is bad, wait until Blousey finds Tallulah putting the moves on Bugsy! Crosses and double-crosses are plenty. An up-and-coming prizefighter, Leroy, and a soup kitchen army could be the answer to making Dandy Dan pay for his misdeeds but Dan and his boys have their hands on a newfangled and VERY messy weapon. Will Fat Sam's loss be avenged? Will Bugsy and Blousey live happily ever after? Come find out, July 28, 29 and 30 at the 7th St. Theatre.
